Warranty Limitations and Exclusions after Sale

Puppies are sold with a guarantee against 10 days, no death from the date of shipping, and against life threatening congenital defect for one year from date of shipping. No other conditions are covered.

All veterinarian expenses are the purchaser's responsibility not the breeders.

The owner is responsible for the cost of any test or diagnostics performed in case of sudden death or illness. We will not issue any cash refunds. In case of death requiring replacement, such replacement will be provided as an exchange if an autopsy is performed by a licensed Vet and all paperwork from this Vet is forwarded to our Vet. Our Vet will ask to speak to this Vet if this happens to occur. The puppy's microchip number must be a part of this report. Exchange will be for puppy of same value when available. All shipping costs are at the customer's expense.

Once puppy is purchased, the owner is responsible for all appropriate care.

Warranty, guarantee and this contract is not transferable to other owners.

Puppies are sold as pet quality unless otherwise noted. No guarantee is made regarding temperament, size, or conformation; there is no guarantee that this puppy will be able to breed.

All sales are final.

It is up to us, the breeder, to decide when a puppy is ready to be shipped. Shipping dates may be changed due to flight conditions, weather conditions or any other concerns.

If a deposit has been made, the final payment will be due 7 days prior to shipping. If not received on time the deposit is retained by the seller and the puppy will be re-listed.

No shipping arrangements will be made until the breeder has received all documents mentioned in the contract.

Credit Card Payments

If the puppy is paid for by someone other than the new owner, we will require this person to sign the statement below.
